Historic Soldiers Weekend is a historical encampment, featuring re-enactors, and their equipment, portraying soldiers and civilians from every American conflict, spanning from the French and Indian War to the Vietnam war. In some instances, both sides of the conflicts are represented, such as the Revolutionary War Loyalists and “Redcoats”, Civil War Confederate units, and even WWII German infantry units. The re-enactment units will camp out for the weekend on Historic Burlington City’s Promenade, living as their ancestors did.

This extensive display will feature a range of authentic historical items from Revolutionary War muskets to the War of 1812 cookware, from Civil War troop tents to WWII half-tracks. The weekend includes: presentations from live speakers and several veterans, cooking and weapons demonstrations, live music, military vehicles of all types and examples of military drilling and marching styles.

Do you want to witness what the life of a typical soldier was like, from the French and Indian War through the Vietnam War? Educators and parents, do you want to give your children a chance to see, hear and touch history? Then come to the Historic Soldiers Weekend, where you can take a walk through history.

This event is sponsored by:
