To whom it may concern;

Today I received my second box from Operation Shoebox, which I promptly passed out to my Marines. To say that we are grateful is quite the understatement. We just returned from five days worth of exhausting missions, and to receive a package was just the lift we needed. I gave the individual boxes out to Marines who seldom receive packages, and they were individually replenished of needs and wants. Your organization is one of love and compassion, and I wish there were more like yours out there. The items, though meaningful and thoughtful, pale in comparison to our appreciation that we are supported by people from back home. Please understand that it is our honor and privilege to be here on your behalf, and know that your reciprocity for our sacrifices is a treat to us. I cannot begin to put into words the immense satisfaction that your group has given us, and I am eternally grateful for your support.

Respectfully,
Cpl Kopp, Joshua
